DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Applicant's Admitted Prior Art (disclosed in the Background of Invention section) in view of Hazebrouck et al (US 6,268,588 B1).

Applicant's APA substantially discloses the structure of the rotary connector as claimed except that a temperature detector is being used and exposed within the housing of the rotary connector for detecting a temperature of the flexible cable.

Hazebrouck et al teach a temperature sensor (28) being use in a vehicle steering wheel to monitor a temperature of the steering wheel.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide a temperature detector into the rotary connector of the applicant's APA, as taught by Hazebrouck et al to detect a temperature of a device in the assembly for preventing an overheating problem.

In the modified rotary connector of the Applicant's APA in view of Hazebrouck et al substantially disclose the claimed invention except for a mounting structure for the temperature detector and a location of the temperature detector.

Art Unit: 2833

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide a temperature detector in the rotary connector to detect the temperature of the cable, since it was known in the art that a temperature detector is used to detect a temperature of a device. Therefore, it is an matter of a designer's choice to put a temperature detector to monitor a temperature of a specific device.

In the modified rotary connector of the Applicant's APA in view of Hazebrouck et al disclose the temperature detector comprises a temperature sensor and a thermistor.

Double Patenting

3. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970);and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

4. Claims 1-20 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-11 of U.S. Patent No. 6,736,645. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claimed features of the present application are shown in the US Patent No. 6,736,645.
